ABOUT

Robotics Engineering is a study program associated with two international programs. Thanks to the European Master on Advanced Robotics (EMARO) and to the Japan-Europe Master on Advanced Robotics (JEMARO) students attend each year in a different University part of the EMARO/JEMARO consortium. Students enrolled as part of Robotics Engineering attend the whole degree in UniGe. However, they share the same classes and are subject to the same activities and workload as EMARO/JEMARO students. Robotics Engineering, completely taught in English, has a unique structure compliant with international standards.

LEARNING BY DOING

Robotics Engineering adopts the successful EMARO philosophy of learning via reflection on doing, as a paradigm complementary to the more traditional separation between teaching and practice. Theoretical studies are interleaved with lab-based practical and experimental work

CAREER PERSPECTIVES

Robotics Engineering seeks to produce professional figures in robotics, artificial intelligence, mechatronics, and automation.

Research-oriented careers can be sought as Ph.D. studies in autonomous robotics, smart manufacturing, artificial intelligence.

Scenarios explicitly considered in the program include factory automation (Industry 4.0), intelligent transportation (autonomous cars, railways, ships and space vehicles), ambient intelligence (smart environments, smart cities, Internet of Things), human-robot interaction, as well as software-based systems.

HOW TO APPLY

You have to submit following documents using the application website: pre-assessment

- CV with identity photo
- Academic degree and transcripts of all university studies with translation into English, i.e. Bachelor, Master or equivalent. If the degree has not been obtained yet, a certificate from the institution indicating the situation of the student and the expected date of graduation must be provided
- Motivation letter
- Recognized International English test Certificate, at least level B2, not older than 3 years: TOEFL, Cambridge Advanced English Test, IELTS, TOEIC. No other test is recognized. This document is not required if the language of instruction of your studies is English. The fact must be certified by an official document or letter from the University. In that case, submitting an English Test Certificate is not compulsory, but can add value to your application. If you should not have any English Certificate, you can enroll to the CLAT B2 English test, which is fee-free for Robotics Engineering students – or prospective ones – at the following link: <https://scuolapolitecnica.unige.it/en/node/642>

After the selection procedure, the selected students will be informed about the following steps on University, the official national platform for enrolment

Please note that the Please find all deadlines at the following link.

EMARO

The European Master on Advanced Robotics is an integrated Master's course designed and conducted by partner institutions sharing a common vision of Robotics:

- University of Genoa (Italy)
- Centrale Nantes (France)
- Warsaw University of Technology (Poland)

The programme of study lasts two academic years (120 ECTS) split into four equally loaded semesters. Students interested in the EMARO program, can apply to the local MSc and they are first selected for the local master program.

For students enrolled in Robotics Engineering, at the end of M1 it is possible to apply to become an EMARO student, with mandatory second year mobility to a Consortium partner. Becoming an EMARO student, the student will have to accept EMARO rules, pay the EMARO tuition fees and will get a double degree.

A limited number of positions are available (less than 5 each year) and students will be selected on the basis of performance, average grading, etc. Therefore students attend the EMARO programme at at least two different partner institutions: the first two semesters in one European institution and the second two semesters in another European institution.

Another mobility during the fourth semester to an Asian partner or to an industrial partner is possible.

Students graduating from the EMARO Master's course are awarded two Master's degrees from the institutions where they studied, as well as a Diploma Supplement. The degrees obtained are officially recognized and give full access to PhD study programmes.

JEMARO

JEMARO is the first joint Japan-Europe programme offering high-level academic and industrial training across the whole span of robotics thanks to a 2-year integrated programme (120 ECTS or 30 Japanese Credits) between:

- University of Genoa (Italy)
- Centrale Nantes (France)
- Warsaw University of Technology (Poland)
- Keio University (Japan)

The student mobility path will allow a first year spread across the European partners and the second year in Japan where all students will remain together helping them to form a close-knit group. Students who graduate from the JEMARO master's course will obtain two master's degrees, one from a European country and the other from Japan (Keio University). The degrees are officially recognised and give full access to PhD study programmes.

Please note that the deadline for enrollment is fixed on January of the first academic year.

THE RESIDENCE PERMIT

If a student holds a visa for study purposes and stays in Italy for more than 90 days, he/she must request a residence permit. If he/she does not complete his/her studies before the residence permit expires, he/she will have to request the renewal of his/her residence permit.

The residence permit is issued to foreign citizens coming from Extra EU countries who attend a course – university or training course – in Italy, after they were granted a visa for study purposes from the Italian Embassy or Consulate in their country of origin or residence. Every year, a limited number of places is available for International students who want to enrol in University or training courses in Italy, in relation to the maximum number of visa for study purposes that can be granted.

ISSUE AND RENEWAL

When you enter Italy with a visa for study purposes, you must submit your request of residence permit to the competent Questura, through the Welcome office.

The first residence permit for study purposes, issued to university students who entered Italy with a visa – including students attending a master or Phd course – has a limited duration, usually corresponding to entry visa expiration.

- You must submit your first request of residence permit within the first 8 days from your arrival in Italy, whereas you can submit your request of renewal from 2 months before to 2 months after your residence permit expiry date.
- The receipt of your request of issue/renewal entitles you to enjoy all the rights related to the possession of a residence permit and certifies that you correctly submitted your application but, unlike the residence permit, it does not allow you to travel to another Schengen area country.

The owner of a residence permit for study purposes (university or training) is allowed to:

- travel to the other Schengen area countries for period shorter than three months without fulfilling any formal obligation;
- submit application for family reunion;
- be registered with the Health National Service;
- have a part time job like Italian citizens, provided that he/she does not work more than 20 hours per week;
- enjoy all the welfare benefits deriving from a regular employment contract.

MAIN STEPS

After filling in the form contained in the residence permit kit, you will have to go to the post office and send it. The Post Office will fix an appointment for you to go to Questura where you will be fingerprinted. Approximately 40 days later, you will be able to get your residence permit card.

Documents required for the issue of a residence permit for study purposes:

- The Kit for the request of residence permit, which can be collected for free at any Post office;
- Copy of all the pages of the passport;
- Copy of the certificate attesting the enrolment in the course of study.

Documents required for the renewal of a residence permit for study purposes:

- The Kit for the request of the residence permit, which can be collected for free at any Post office;
- Copy of all the pages of the passport;
- Copy of the certificate attesting the positive result of at least one exam for the first renewal and of at least 2 exams for the following renewals;
- Copy of the health insurance policy (valid in Italy for the time of validity of the residence permit) against disease and/or accidents;
- Copy of the documents testifying the availability of appropriate financial means for the time of validity of the residence permit;
- Copy of the expiring residence permit.

Costs for the residence permit issue/renewal

- € 16 revenue stamp (to be purchased at any tobacconists')
- € 70,46 cost of the electronic residence permit, valid up to 1 year (pre-printed postal payment slip)
- € 30 cost of the acceptance of the request for the residence permit issue/renewal (to be paid at the post office when you submit the filled kit).

Note: The International student who enters Italy for the first time and applies for the issue of a one-year-long residence permit must subscribe the integration agreement. The integration agreement is a measure taken to enhance the integration of foreign citizens in Italy. University students are exempt from attending the test of knowledge of the Italian language and civic and culture and life in Italy.

EU students, who have been staying in Italy for more than 3 months, must apply at the Civil Registry office in order to be registered and receive a certificate confirming their stay.
